U.N. Assembly In Recess After Voting Impartial Inquiry Into Germ Charge

United Nations, N. Y., (AP)—The U. N. Assembly recessed indefinitely yesterday with a hope and a prayer for an impartial investigation of Red germ warfare charges and unanimously urged joint action to get 12,000 Chinese guerrillas out of Burma.

Sir Gladwyn Jebb, British chief delegate and acting Assembly president, drowned the final gavel at 11:57 a. m., with this declaration:

"Let us all hope it will not be long before we meet again to discuss the organization of peace following the conclusion of an armistice in Korea."

Delegates are hopeful that an armistice will be achieved in a few weeks. When it comes, or when a majority of delegates decide any Korean development warrants a meeting, the Assembly will be called back.

Ambassador Ernest A. Gross, who is retiring as U. S. deputy delegate, clashed bitterly with Russia's Andrei V. Vishinsky on the germ warfare issue.

The Assembly voted 51-5 (Soviet bloc) for an impartial investigation by a five-member commission of the Communist charges against the United States and the U. N. Allies in Korea, but delegates acknowledged that Russian opposition made the chances of such a probe nil. Burma, India, Indonesia and Saudi Arabia abstained.

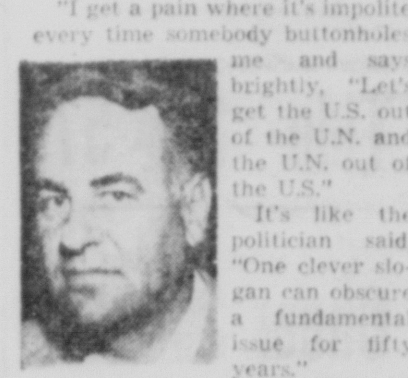

Gross said that the Russian vote against an impartial investigation "is a condemnation of the fairness with which the representatives of these five countries might be expected to investigate these charges." He referred to the commission members: Brazil, Egypt, Pakistan, Sweden and Uruguay.

ANOTHER LOOK AT THE UNITED NATIONS

(Mr. Hartwell, the noted magazine writer, recently edited the book "On the Record," a collection of items by members of the Overseas Press Club.)

"I get a pain where it's impolite every time somebody buttonholes me and says brightly, 'Let's get the U. N. out of the U. N. and the U. N. out of the U. N.'"

It's like the politician said, "One clever slogan can obscure a fundamental issue for fifty years."

That's what is happening now on the current wave of anti-United Nations agitation. It wouldn't matter much except some people are drinking this brew and it's making them dizzy.

What they don't know is what I didn't know either until recently. That is, some basic facts about the U. N. Is it just a debating society? Does it do anybody any good?

I've just finished a 12,000-mile trip trying to find out what the U. N. really accomplishes.

I was interested particularly in the children's fund — known around the world as UNICEF (United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund). UNICEF is trying to help some seventy countries raise standards

Ike Ready To Do Anything To Bring Peace

Washington, (AP)—President Eisenhower said yesterday reported atrocities in Korea weigh heavily on one's heart. Something obviously has been wrong, he said, with Communist treatment of war prisoners.

But in an evident effort to avoid any move that might jeopardize the exchange of additional prisoners, Eisenhower told a news conference he is not prepared at the moment to express any sweeping conclusions.

The President also said he can't say what the chances are for a prompt truce in Korea—that he is just waiting.

The world peace and disarmament program with which he challenged Russia a week ago, Eisenhower said, has produced reaction only through the press—nothing from Moscow through diplomatic channels.

In reply to a question pegged to Korea and the Far East, the Chief Executive said he was ready to do anything or confer anywhere to bring peace. He attached his previously expressed proviso that the American people approve the idea and that any agreement reached would be self-enforcing.

Eisenhower repeated that there can be no peace in Korea that ignores the broader problem of a Far Eastern settlement. He said the Red invasion of the kingdom of Laos is being watched carefully and discussed every day. But he wasn't willing to talk of what this country alone or in concert with United Nations allies might do about the situation in Laos.

Dressed in a dark brown double-breasted suit and figured brown tie, Eisenhower ran through answers at an even faster clip than usual. He had little to volunteer himself, other than that the reorganization plans are coming along and that the National Security Council has recommended that the United States take part in some way in construction of the St. Lawrence waterway.

Eisenhower said that he, too, now favors such participation although the degree and limitations have not been worked out.

Senate Votes To Continue Oil Debate

Washington, (AP)—The Senate rejected yesterday a move by opponents of the offshore oil lands bill to lay aside the measure for the time being and take up legislation to extend economic controls.

The vote against the proposal, offered by Sen. Anderson (D-Mn), was 61 to 21. It meant that debate on the offshore lands question, now in its 16th day, would go on with night sessions of the Senate already in force and all-night sessions under consideration next week.

Yesterday's vote also demonstrated the strength of Senate support for the measure, which would establish the ownership by coastal states of the oil-bearing submerged lands off their shores.

The vote came after Sen. Taft of Ohio, the Republican leader, assailed Anderson's motion as "a fraud on its face." Taft said interrupting the debate would only give foes of the bill, whom he accuses of staging a filibuster, a chance to get their second wind.

He did not estimate how many SE jobs would be eliminated.

Koreans Reveal Atrocities; Recently Captured Allies Tell Of Better Treatment

Freedom Village, Korea, Friday, (AP)—The latest U. S. exchanged sick and wounded—only recently swept up in battle—told yesterday of better Red treatment but from the lips of South Korean prisoners tumbled the same old story of wholesale brutality and neglect.

A South Korean sergeant said more than 1,000 of 2,000 prisoners died in his camp high in North Korea during January and February of 1951 of typhoid or brutality.

Bodies piled up in a nearby valley and left unburied for a long period.

The sergeant did not give the nationality of the Allies, but presumably most were South Koreans.

"It was more than hell," said the sergeant, Park Chon Soo. He said his captors also killed "a lot of Allied prisoners" in the preceding December.

This would bring to more than 2,500 the number of Allied prisoners killed or dead of neglect and disease, as reported by prisoners in the first four days of the exchange.

Official Allied estimates, as reported to the United Nations, have put the American figure alone at about 8,000 killed from the start of the war until the fall of 1951.

Sgt. Kim Ya Sung, captured by North Koreans, showed his hands from which all fingers were missing, and said doctors cut them off with a saw and a knife without an anesthetic. He related that doctors used as an excuse that circulation had stopped in his fingers.

Kim said he was the only prisoner tortured in this camp—he had tried to escape—and that the Communists forced him to drink water in great amounts and poured hot pepper in his nose and mouth.

Some of the returned South Koreans confirmed reports that many of their comrades were forced into the North Korean Army. The United Nations Command has put the total figure at 30,000.

State Lawmaker To Study Ohio's Sales Tax Plan; Constitution Bill Doomed

Harrisburg, (AP)—A Pennsylvania lawmaker was making an on-the-spot study of Ohio's sales tax yesterday in hopes of improving a bill to enact a similar levy in the Commonwealth.

Rep. Ivan C. Watkins (R-Schuylkill), chairman of the important House State Government Committee, planned to spend yesterday and today in Columbus, O., making a detailed analysis of the Ohio plan.

House Republican leaders were hoping that Watkins' study plus news on the return of sales taxes in other states might permit them to revise their estimates by as much as 50 per cent.

That would boost the return of a 1 per cent levy, with food exempt, from the current estimate of 128.5 to 173 million dollars a biennium.

The higher estimate would permit the dropping of 47.5 million in temporary taxes received two years ago.

Rep. Albert W. Johnson, Republican floor leader, said he hoped the new plan would swing enough votes to the sales tax to clear the way for a final vote next Tuesday.

"I want to find out for myself how their tax works," Watkins said as he boarded a plane. "I want to know what obstacles confronted them when their tax first came up, their problems and procedures in collection and everything else concerning workings of their tax," Watkins said.

The Tower City businessman said he had an appointment with the Ohio revenue secretary to go over the tax.

Meanwhile, Johnson said he had all but given up hope of revising Pennsylvania's 73-year-old Constitution.

"I don't see how we stand much of a chance of holding a constitutional convention now until at least 1956 unless the senators unexpectedly change their minds," Johnson told a newsman.

Johnson sponsored a measure to set up a convention here next January to revise the Constitution as the first bill introduced in the House this session. However, a Senate Committee stripped the bill of all but a referendum provision calling for the voters to decide whether they want such a convention called.

That would leave it up to the 1955 session to set up a convention.

The commission said Pennsylvania Power plans to merge the Scranton properties into its system and that pending this will operate them as a division. Scranton's service area adjoins part of the area served by Pennsylvania Power, and facilities of the two companies are interconnected.

Scranton, (AP)—Merger of Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. and Scranton Electric Co. will eliminate the $28 million dollar expansion program, which is basis for SE's application for increased rate here, a PP&L executive said yesterday.

Revamping Of State, Defense Posts Aired

Washington, (AP)—President Eisenhower is working on a broad-scale reorganization of the State and Defense Departments with a two-fold purpose: to tighten up their efficiency and to make them less costly.

The President told his news conference yesterday he is confident that the 46 billion dollar defense budget submitted by former President Truman for the fiscal year starting July 1 can be reduced. He said he was not ready to estimate by how much, however.

Plans for streamlining two of the government's biggest departments were outlined at a White House breakfast conference with congressional leaders prior to the session with newsmen.

There has been much congressional criticism of waste and inefficiency in both agencies.

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), after hearing the plans for reorganizing the Defense Department, said:

"Broadly speaking, it would substitute individuals for certain boards, effect a greater efficiency and cut down on the personnel."

Taft said the discussion covered new procedures in the department to give the secretary of defense and the civilian secretaries of the armed services a tighter grip on "what is going on."

One of the boards that may be abolished, Taft said, is the Munitions Board, which is in charge of the government's program of stockpiling strategic materials.

Suggested changes in the State Department included these possibilities, Taft said:

One—Taking the Voice of America and association information programs out of the department and setting them up as an independent agency.

Two—Transferring the Point Four program of providing technical skill to underdeveloped areas of the world to the Mutual Security Agency.

Before going to the breakfast meeting, Sen. Bridges (R-NH), chairman of the appropriations committee, expressed the opinion that "an over-all study of our defense and foreign aid programs by fresh minds is in order."

Bridges and other Republican leaders had been suggesting "some new faces" in the top military command—the Joint Chiefs of Staff—but Taft said yesterday White House discussion did not reach that subject. The joint chiefs were consulted on Truman's budget recommendations.

Draft Quota Cut For June

Harrisburg, (AP)—Selective Service headquarters yesterday established Pennsylvania's draft quota for the month of June at 2,244, a substantial reduction from recent months.

At the same time, the headquarters called up another 4,594 men for pre-induction physical examinations during May to meet the June quota.

Henry M. Gross, State Draft Director, said the June quota will be met by 20-year olds "if possible." If not, he said, the oldest 19-year olds will be called up.

The draft quota for May was 3,884 while that for April was 4,081.

Prisoner Ends 10-Day Hunger Strike When Relative Brings About His Jail Release

A 10-day hunger strike ended rather unceremoniously yesterday for a prisoner at the county jail. He was freed but only because a relative paid his $180 arrearage on a non-support order.

The strike began April 13 when Perry M. Shafer, 37, Kresgeville, was committed to the county jail for failing to keep up payments.

He vowed he would neither eat nor drink anything while in jail. Shafer told Sheriff Jacob Altemose that already he had fasted for three days, while being returned to Monroe County from Northampton County on a bench warrant.

Then Shafer got in his bunk in the cell block and stayed there. Daily Sheriff Altemose had Shafer's breakfast, lunch and supper placed in his cell by one of the other prisoners. Each of the meals was left untouched.

Three times, during the 10-day stay, a physician was called in to give Shafer injections of vitamins—willy-nilly. But the prisoner refused to eat or drink—anything, even water.

Reds Seek Day's Postponement Of Full Truce Talks

Panmunjom, Friday (AP)—The Allies thanked the Communists today for agreeing to return more disabled captives than pledged originally, announced the U. N. Command would do likewise and pressed for a stretch-out of the current sick and wounded exchange for the duration of the Korean fighting.

Forty more Americans crossed the line to freedom here today, swelling to 119 the number of U. S. sick and wounded liberated in five days.

The Communists also handed over four British, four Turks, one Dutch, one Canadian and 50 South Koreans.

The Reds said they would release tomorrow 17 Americans, four British, four Turks and 75 South Koreans.

U.S. To Train Allied Forces In A-Warfare

Washington, (AP)—The Defense Department disclosed yesterday this nation is going to give its allies lessons on atomic warfare, beginning next week.

Key military leaders of the NATO forces in Europe will get training in the "use of atomic weapons in tactical situations," the department said.

No restricted material will be divulged, a spokesman said. This means the U. S. is keeping the lid clamped tightly over its secrets on the production of atomic weapons.

U. S. military leaders have long called for the removal of some barriers against disclosure of atomic information. They argued that leaders of NATO—the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—must be taught how to defend themselves against atomic attack and how to launch a counter-attack with A-weapons.

At the same time, the Reds asked a one-day postponement until 2 p.m. Sunday (8 p.m., EST, Saturday) for the resumption of full armistice negotiations.

No reason was given immediately. The truce talks were suspended Oct. 8 and have been deadlocked for a year over the last remaining issue of an over-all prisoner exchange.

The Allied statement to the Reds on exchanging more disabled captives was given at an eight-minute liaison meeting here today.

Rear Adm. John C. Daniel told the Communists:

"We note with gratification the indication given by your side (yesterday) that all sick and injured captured personnel in your custody will be repatriated without regard to the previous estimates you have furnished."

"I should like to reiterate that this is in complete accordance with our previous request that the most liberal criteria be used in determining the eligibility of captured personnel for repatriation under the current agreement."

"As I stated to you at that time, our side is following that practice. We anticipate that it will result in an increase over our original estimates."

"We also emphasize that under the Geneva Convention the repatriation during hostilities of sick and injured captured is intended to be a continuing process."

"As to the numbers, your side will be informed daily according to the agreement of both sides."

"Man, you sure look good," one American repatriate exclaimed as he spotted a U. S. military policeman.

The first group released today at Panmunjom for the most part broke out in broad smiles but had little to say.

Some were rushed to Freedom Village near Panmunjom by helicopter. Others were taken there in ambulances.

While the exchange was going on, artillery was booming and shells crumpled into the ground just outside the neutral circle.

And 46 miles to the south, a huge Globemaster transport took off for Tokyo from an airport near Seoul with 12 American and six Colombian repatriates who had been released yesterday. Nine were litter cases.

These Pennsylvanians were released today:

Pfc. Frank F. Paul, Coplay.

Pfc. F. William Kroboth, Shamokin.

Pvt. James J. Coogan, Philadelphia.

Pfc. William J. Trabucki, Pittsburgh.

of child health and material welfare.

In the drought-infested area of northern Brazil, I talked with a priest in the town of Pacoli. Here, where children are chronically hungry, the U.N. is providing cheap but nutritious dried skim milk for nursing mothers and infants, for most of them the only cow's milk they've ever tasted.

I asked the priest whether he thought this milk was doing any good.

The priest pointed toward the church steeple. "That bell used to toll the death of a child three or four times a week," he said. "Now it rings only three or four times a month."

In Costa Rica Dr. Oscar Vargas, director general of public health, handed me a chart. It showed the percentage of people admitted to the largest hospital with past or present malaria. Starting at near 100 percent, the line dropped precipitously to near 10 percent. The record for children was even more dramatic. It had dropped to 1.1 percent.

"Children who have had malaria are easy prey to other diseases," Dr. Vargas explained. "Now they don't have it any more. That's what the U.N. did for us."

I asked him how many children and how much it cost. To protect the 340,000 children of Costa Rica—and their parents, too—UNICEF has contributed DDT and other supplies costing only $30,000 a year. Soon the government will take over this job. Then it will cost the U.N. nothing.

This impressive achievement is really peanuts. In India, UNICEF and its cooperating technical agency, World Health Organization, got together in a rich, fertile but malaria-ridden area which had never been farmed in the memory of man.

During crop seasons the deadly mosquito had half the population on its back and most of the rest alternately chilled and feverish. No man could work. Virtually no food could be grown.

But when the U.N. teams got through, the malaria mosquito was driven from an area of 2,000 square miles. Today 100,000 acres are being prepared for cultivation. A 10,000-acre farm is growing seeds for planting. Settlers are streaming in, some walking 400 miles to the new promised land. Men are working, producing food for their families and for other's of India's famished. They are economic deadweight no longer.

Here is one answer from the U.N. to those who say that saving lives upsets the "balance of nature."

There are other answers. In much of the tropics yaws, a crippling disease, is rampant. Yaws often attacks children and twists their limbs. In Indonesia alone 10,000,000 people suffer its devastating effects. Its victims are showing Indonesian technicians how to conquer this crippling. It will be wiped out in five years.

What would we pay to wipe out infantile paralysis in the U.S. in five years? To cure yaws—to cure it, mind you—usually takes one shot of penicillin. UNICEF can buy enough penicillin to cure seven children for just one dollar!

The effect around the world of virtually unknown U.N. agencies is tremendous. The Food and Agricultural Organization found farmers in Afghanistan using sickles to harvest their grain. FAO showed them how to use the repe. "To many farmers this meant 100 years of progress. Buildings decay quickly in the tropics. FAO created a cheap ream-treated wallboard that is impervious to tropical termites which can destroy a solid house in a few months. In India experts are working toward a new highly nutritious strain of all purpose, disease-resistant rice.

One U.N. agency, the International Bank, has lent 1.5 billion dollars for steel mills, railroads, hydro-electric plants and flood control systems in 28 countries. Not only has the bank paid all its expenses; it has turned in a handsome profit!

The effect of these and dozens of other programs, operating in scores of countries around the globe, is to touch off a minor world revolution in health, education, agriculture and economics. They provide the little help that gets people started working for themselves. Moreover, they provide an easy way for governments to develop the habit of working together to achieve common, nonpolitical objectives.

These are some of the achievements of the United Nations that few people hear about. And that's the reason why, after I saw the U.N. in operation, I began to get impatient pains when I heard that cute phrase, "Let's get the U.S.

Guest Speakers To Address Motor Club

The annual meeting of the Pocono Mountain Motor Club will be held in the ballroom of the Penn-Stroud Hotel Monday night, April 27, at 8.

The meeting will be presided over by R. LeRoy Dengler, president, and will include reports and presentation of three speakers who will cover topics not only relating to highways, but the important subject of highway safety as well.

In addition, the club will elect the president for the coming year and eight members of the Board of Governors for three-year terms. The secretary and treasurer of the board are chosen at the reorganization meeting of the governors in May.

One of the speakers on the program will be Harold R. Prowell, president of the Dauphin County Bar Assn. and counsel for the Pennsylvania Motor Federation. He also serves on the legal and highway committees of the American Automobile Assn. Mr. Prowell is also president of the Harrisburg Community Chest and Council and plays a major part in the development of the PMF legislative program.

George C. Lowe, director of safety education of the Atlantic Refining Co., will also be heard during the meeting. Many local people of the county know him through his work on safety.

The third guest speaker will be C. H. Buckius, chief engineer of the Pennsylvania Dept. of Highways, who is well known in the county over the years. He will give a picture of the highway situation. Mr. Buckius had much to do with the highway development in the county in the early stages.

A buffet supper will be served at the close of the meeting. There will also be entertainment.

The meeting is not confined to members of the Motor Club. Every one interested in the farflung highways situation is cordially invited, President Dengler said last night.

The committees planning for the meeting expressed themselves as much gratified that such outstanding men in public service accepted the invitation to take part in the program.

Puts a Good Mark on a Man!

Regardless of where he drives, no man is wholly a stranger to the people about him—if he sits at the wheel of a 1953 Cadillac.

His name may be unknown—and also his occupation—and, likewise, the whereabouts of his home.

But he is not without standing. For his Cadillac marks him as a man of character and substance.

Wherever he may be, let him arrive at the door of a distinguished hotel or restaurant—or let him seek the car of anyone for direction or information... and he has the courtesy that goes with respect.

And let it be said for Cadillac owners that, almost invariably, they respond in kind.

Indeed, the honor which Cadillac does to its owners is the fruit of the honor they have so long bestowed upon Cadillac. When so many wonderful people favor a particular make of car over such a long period of time—the car must inevitably become a mark of distinction.

All of this, of course, comes to the owner of a 1953 Cadillac as an extra joy and satisfaction.

It comes in addition to the magnificent performance of Cadillac's 210 h.p. engine and improved Hydra-Matic Drive... the wonderful comfort of Cadillac's new Air Conditioner... the car's soft, easy, relaxing ride... its marvelous balance and handling ease... its long life and dependability... and its truly amazing economy of upkeep and operation.

Put them all together and they spell the grandest satisfaction in all the world of motoring.

Have you seen and driven the 1953 version of the "Car of Cars"?

If not—we should be happy to see you at any time. Why not come in today?

One After Another

It's a sickening and frightening story now unfolding piecemeal before Sen. Margaret Chase Smith's committee investigating the ammunition bungle.

Ten thousand miles of red tape, literally, before a contract can be let.

The civilian head man of the Army not even knowing that the commanding general in the field had been sending almost daily complaints of the shortage.

As much as a month's delay just to get an answer from the secretary of defense.

Thirty-three different accounting systems within one organization.

Complication and confusion. Indecision. Duplication. Overlapping. Waste. And always delay, delay. The old, hackneyed Army pattern of "hurry up and wait."

Now comes testimony of the astonishing and hitherto secret, directive issued by Defense Secretary George C. Marshall on Sept. 27, 1950—two days after he took the job.

"Combat operations in Korea will be concluded by 30 June 1951," it said flatly.

A miscalculation, by now, of nearly two years.

Which led Senator Byrd to remark:

"There has just been one tragic mistake after another."

But it wasn't only a series of costly blunders. It wasn't only red tape and ignorance and incompetency and delay.

It was an attitude—an attitude of indifference, an attitude of trying to fight a war with politics and an economy as usual, an attitude in which bungling diplomacy dictated military decisions.

It was idiotic. And so it will remain until new Administration can wholly purge the Pentagon—and the State Department—of the half-war idea which was the Truman-Acheson party line.

Pedestrian Deaths

Richard Solomon, acting chief of research and statistics, for the Bureau of Highway Safety comments in the recently published "Monthly Comparative" of motor vehicle traffic fatalities for February 1953-1952:

"The pedestrian outlook so far this year is far from bright. Of the 34 more persons killed during the first two months of this year (247 traffic deaths for January, February 1953 as against 213 for the same months last year), 26 were pedestrians. This increase in pedestrian death might be attributed to the unusually fine "walking" weather that prevailed during January and February.

"Of the 109 pedestrians killed during the first two months of this year, 13% were in the 5-11 age group; 17% in the 17-60 age group; 45% were 61 and over; and the remaining 25% were scattered among the others.

"A spot check indicated that 75% of these pedestrian fatalities occurred at night. Inasmuch as 62% of the pedestrians killed were 47 years of age and over, more alertness on the part of motorists is necessary to overcome the eye deficiencies and slow reflexes among the aged pedestrians."

The thoughtful motorist will ponder Mr. Solomon's conclusions, both as a motorist and a pedestrian; because most pedestrians in the age group indicated probably are motorists, too. When automobiles are passing pedestrians, nothing should be taken for granted in the matter of safety. It is essential that every consideration be given to the rights of everyone on the highway, whether aboard or afoot.

The Once Over

THOUGHTS ON A CONVENTION

The newspaper publishers and editors of America have been meeting in New York this week.

affording a close-up study of a hard-working, mentally alert, patriotic and helpful group second to none in the country. They bear greater headaches with less squawking than any bunch you know. They put more into the job for what they take out than any other business segment. They have been educators, morale builders, pilots, course layers, counselors, advisers, checker-uppers, news-givers and entertainers to the general public since the birth of the nation. They have acted as everything except baby-sitters in the American home for generations.

Your newspaper provides the cheapest service and gives you the most for your dough of any product on the market. Where else can you get global events, high tide, the starting line of the movie, a line on the national editor, all the local news, the exact time of sunset, tips on how to take a cake, what to do about a little girl who won't eat her spinach, a crossword puzzle, the baseball scores, the stock prices and tomorrow's weather forecast for a nickel? Where else at any price will you find everything from the Corporation and the latest Edison development to the home town's batting averages and the name of the fellow who elopes with the Virgin's Girl? You hear a new way rip on the front porch and in a few minutes you are hip to everything from Mosadess's latest triumph and Elizabeth's next gown to your big city's latest night club shindig and your small town's divorcee's latest. With feeling tips, barometer readings, hints to housewives, advice on removing gray hairs from wallpaper and all possible dope on kids, deaths and matrimony sales thrown in. It's a public service even if you don't want the help in locating a lost dog, finding a man to mow the lawn and selling the old ice box, or getting advice on how to remove a wart.

A newspaper publisher or editor is an opportunity pointer, instructor, doctor, financial consultant, scout, answer man, Indian guide, showman, picnic director, good Samaritan, information chief and all-around community handyman. His headachest are the largest and public appreciation the smallest. His business makes worry compulsory. He has to accept harassments and criticisms as part of a pleasure program. His costs of business are jumping. The competition gets hotter by the hour, and his problems multiply like rabbits. But he is always in their pincers. In the Annual Convention of the American Newspaper Publishers you get a composite view of a guy who deserves a louder cheer than he ever gets and merits an Oscar which would cause him to faint if he got it. We have seen, known, and worked for a lot of these boys, and the foul balls among 'em are so scarce they can be located only by Lick telescopes. More power to the American newspaper makers! They are in a class by themselves.

"He gave up that yacht," writes T. T. T., "because he has found the water-holes on dry land tough enough." . . . Glenn Davis, famous West Point grad star, got married the other day 24 hours after a divorce. . . . It looked to us like an offside play. . . . The Voice of America needs somebody with the nose-for-news, the vitality and the ability of Herbert Bayard Swape at his peak. . . . This week marked the 178th anniversary of Paul Revere's Ride. . . . If he rode today the start would be delayed by a commercial, the ride interrupted by station identification and the entire epic marred by a Senatorial inquiry. . . . Incidentally, research proves that Paul did very little galloping of the type pictured in the history books, as quiet and caution were of paramount importance and a good deal of the ground was across fields on a trot or walk. . . . The new tunnel entrances to the U.S.N. building at First Avenue and 42nd Street have been opened. . . . This makes it as easy to get to a fight there as at Madison Square Garden. . . . The American Pickle Industry announces a contest to name a Miss Pickle for 1953. . . . That's a "Dilly-ey." . . . Now for a carnival to select a Miss Horseradish! . . . In his crackdown on Oscar Levant, Jimmy Petrillo seems to have thrown the piano at him. . . . Native Dancer, undefeated, may be the nearest approach to Man of War. . . . The horse kills the quiet idea that the gray skinner never amounts to much. . . .

RED INDOCTRINATION FEARS

Robert S. Allen Reports

Attempt To Discipline Him By U. S. State Department

A STATEMENT FROM THE STATE DEPARTMENT—

"The Department has noted an apparent misunderstanding contained in a syndicated article written by Robert S. Allen, which was published in a number of papers on April 16.

"Possibly on the basis of the recent Hearings before a Subcommittee of the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives, the erroneous inference was drawn that the Chinese National Government unjustifiably endeavored to collect $2,600,000 from the U. S. Government for properties on the Mainland of China sold to the U. S. Government, but allegedly not delivered as a result of the withdrawal of the Chinese National Government to Formosa in late 1949.

"A condensed description of the transaction by Mr. Leland W. King, Jr., Director of Foreign Buildings Operations for the Department, made on March 25 before the Subcommittee on the Department of State, Justice and Commerce, is found on page 196 of the Hearings. The fact that the properties in question were actually bought by the Chinese National Government from private owners; paid for in Chinese currency, and delivered according to agreement to the U. S. Government in 1948 and early 1949.

"The properties were occupied and used by the U. S. Government for some time, both before and after the withdrawal of the Chinese National Government from the Mainland. The U. S. Government arranged to pay for these properties by crediting their cost against the Chinese indebtedness to the U. S. under the Surplus Property Disposal Agreement. The Chinese National Government never demanded payment in cash for these properties.

"The properties were not vacated by the U. S. Government until its Foreign Service establishments in Communist China were closed and all Foreign Service personnel withdrawn from Mainland China early in 1950. The properties were then left in the care of the British Government, which represents American interests in Communist China. Most of the properties were seized by the Chinese Communists late in 1950.

"The Chinese National Government at the request of the U. S. Government agreed in September, 1952, to take back title to certain of these properties, thus releasing for use elsewhere the allotment earmarked by the Department of State for the purchase of these properties. Throughout these negotiations the cooperative action of the Chinese National Government has been evident."

ROBERT S. ALLEN'S REPLY TO STATEMENT ISSUED BY THE STATE DEPARTMENT—

"I am standing pat on my April 16 story.

"I do that because I see no reason to do otherwise. I am always more than eager to promptly and fully correct any error of inadvertence. Nothing has been shown me that causes me to feel that I was inaccurate in my original story.

"The State Department's extraordinary statement is completely refuted, in my judgment, by the statement that Leland King, director of Foreign Buildings Operations for the State Department, made before the House Appropriations Subcommittee that handles the Department's budget. The Department's statement refers to Mr. King's testimony but, very significantly, does not quote that testimony.

"His testimony is recorded on page 196 of the Subcommittee's published hearings. The Department notes that fact, but does not quote what Mr. King said. Well, here is what he said and which completely refutes the Department's allegations regarding my story:

"Mr. King: 'I would like to report to this Committee one transaction that the FBO (Foreign Buildings Operations) completed this year, which has returned to the Treasury as an asset of the American taxpayers some $2,600,000.

"It came about in a very unusual way. We had, following the fall of the mainland of Nationalist China, got yet transferred to the Treasury the dollar offset to the properties turned over to the United States by the Nationalist government, and in due course when they presented the bill I found myself extremely loath to certify over to the payment of the Nationalist government debts on $2,600,000 of property which the Communists in fact occupied."

"That was the official explanation of Mr. King, who was in direct charge of this matter. That official explanation completely confirms my April 16 story. The disclaimers to the country are merely a lot of mumbo-jumbo double-talk that was obviously forced by the Nationalist government in Formosa.

"I want to emphasize that most ordinary fact.

"At the behest of the Chiang government, and I make that statement advisedly on the basis of information from an unimpeachable source, the State Department is pursuing the amazing course of attempting to discipline an American newspaperman at the behest of a foreign government."

George Sokolsky Says . . .

An Author Should Risk All Principles Of Life, If He Believes He's Right

An Author's Philosophy

It used to be that when an author wrote a book expressing ideas he fought for what he believed. Often he traveled about as a lecturer. For instance, Henry George once wrote a book, "Progress and Poverty," advocating the novel idea, single tax. George devoted his life to the idea, starting a public movement which continues to have a following to this day.

Currently, some authors take refuge under the Fifth Amendment as though it would incriminate them to advocate what they wrote because they believed it to be true.

Lawrence K. Rosinger is the author of six books on Far Eastern affairs which are being used in the State Department's Information Service. Rosinger, on the witness stand before a Congressional committee, took refuge under the Fifth Amendment every time he was asked any question in any way relating him to the Communist Party. He said to reply otherwise would incriminate him. He declined to answer whether he knew Alger Hiss or Frederick Vanderbilt Field on the ground of self-incrimination. All three persons were associated with the Institute of Pacific Relations, as earlier testimony brought the McCarran Committee brought out.

Senator Stuart Symington, a Democrat and a new member of the Senate, tried to help Rosinger by this query:

"Now, we have just had a witness who was a member of the Communist Party, and he did not decline to answer anything. If you are a good American, with the premise that it is an international conspiracy against the United States, why do you not answer these questions? What you have done in the past is not as important as the future and the present. Why are you afraid of answering that you are a Communist or have been a Communist? Or why do you not state your position frankly, like Professor Buzend did? That is what I cannot understand in these hearings."

Rosinger remained unmoved. Senator McClellan made the point:

"But certainly I do not have time to waste on reading the literature of people who take the position that they cannot answer what their philosophy of government is without fear that it will incriminate them."

Then followed this colloquy:

"I asked you, I believe, if you believe in the overthrow of this government by force and violence?"

"Rosinger: No, sir, I do not."

"Senator McClellan: Have you ever advocated it?"

"Rosinger: I respectfully decline to answer, relying on the Constitutional privilege under the Fifth Amendment."

"Senator McClellan: You refuse to answer that. Have you ever attended meetings, Communist meetings, where it was advocated?"

"Rosinger: I decline to answer, relying on the Constitutional privilege under the Fifth Amendment."

"Senator McClellan: Are you now a member of the Communist Party?"

"Rosinger: I decline to answer, relying on the Constitutional privilege under the Fifth Amendment."

"Senator McClellan: Will you tell the committee when you withdrew membership, or when membership was withdrawn from you, in the Communist Party?"

"Rosinger: I decline to answer, relying on the Constitutional privilege under the Fifth Amendment."

"Senator McClellan: Do you believe that the system of government in Russia is superior to the American system of government and philosophy?"

"Rosinger: I decline to answer, relying on the Constitutional privilege under the Fifth Amendment."

"Senator McClellan: Is it because you are ashamed to answer that you refuse to answer?"

"Rosinger: I decline to answer, relying on the Constitutional privilege under the Fifth Amendment."

Such replies to such questions involve a philosophy of life. An author of books on China and the Far East must have a definite philosophy or he could not write at all. One is either for or against the Nationalists, for or against Chiang Kai-shek or Mao Tse-tung, for the United States or for Russia in the Korean War. The historian a century from now could perhaps be objective; the present-day author is too close to the scene and time for objectivity to be possible.

An honest man stands for his position. If he believes that he is right, he ought to be prepared to risk all for his principles of life.

How can a man dare to influence others who lack the courage to defend his beliefs?

On Broadway

—by Walter Winchell

Big City Portraits

The magical sights of a fabulous metropolis inspire a musical response in hearts. Brilliant images dance across the mind and sing a love song to the spirit. There is classic poetry in the soaring beauty of a skyscraper and a true artistic masterpiece in the shimmering lights of Broadway. . . . But these material wonders merely serve as the scenery for an epic drama. The people are its stars. For individuals form the basis of cities as well as empires. Our town reflects their dreams and accomplishments. Their daily routines represent its pulsebeat. Their biographies are its history.

The children of a city are living symbols of its hopes. The heirs of the future. Their lives have as many meanings as there are children. . . . Some find their horizons limited by the walls of dismal tenements. Many are doomed to be victims of grim environment. A crowded, turbulent existence forces them to acquire a native guile far beyond their years. They age quickly and become weary too soon. Poverty can be a more formidable prison than one made of stone and steel. . . . Yet the Great Democracy of Youth gifts them all with common enthusiasm. Those who frolic in traffic-jammed streets are as joyful as others fortunate enough to have lavish playrooms or spacious lawns. Children are not concerned about the price tags on toys. . . . When life is in its morning the sunset holds infinite promise.

Portraits of Broadwayites must be sketched with the brightest lights and darkest shadows. Their lives are filled with strange ironies: The famous are frequently friendless, cynics compose sentimental ballads and stars seldom achieve the security attained by the corner newsstand proprietor. Those who devote their lives to entertaining millions are gripped by melancholy that stems from the constant struggle to gain and retain success. . . . Broadway is a wild fairyland where the law of the jungle prevails. Success is King and fame is Paradise. But those who wear stars for crowns—often discover that Heaven is very lonely.

Almost every cabbie is an amateur philosopher. They have an inexhaustible fund of conversation and toss around opinions like confetti. Their language is frequently spiced with slang that has a poetic tang. They can drive you cross-town and solve the problems of the world, while stressing their own personal difficulties in earning a living. . . . Some are rude, but many are as friendly as missionaries. They maneuver their vehicles with the boldness of conquerors. And their daily battles with the traffic tangle demand the rugged spirit of an explorer. . . . They know the city as intimately as birds know forests. The day-by-day experiences they have accumulated could provide plots for a stack of novels.

There is nothing as tragic as a human being stripped of dignity. It is one of the prime qualities that distinguishes mankind from beasts. . . . The mendicants arouse pity—and the profound sorrow that comes from the desecration of life. Many of them are frauds operating like shrewd businessmen—each controlling a certain territory. They are skillful performers who follow a time-worn script calculated to arouse sympathy. . . . They continue their abject pleading with metronomic monotony and a primitive ignorance of simple decency. They are a burning insult to the world's richest city. To observe a human being whining and begging is to see the face of Hell.

Nightclub generally have a desperate gaiety. They frantically clutch for fragments of happiness that are more difficult to grasp than a vanishing dream. . . .

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

One of the phenomena about astonishing phenomena is the a carelessness with which they engage baby sitters.

I am not a father. But in spite of that, or perhaps because of it, I realize what a priceless possession children must be.

And when I see mothers and fathers of five or six or ten children wanting still more—well, I envy them.

But when the parents want to go out for a good time they hire a baby sitter. So-and-so can't come tonight, she has to go to a dance. And this and that also has an engagement. She has to go to the movies with her boy friend.

So ANY girl or woman is engaged. If she has an honest face, and if she isn't too expensive, you entrust her with the most precious possession you have in this world.

But before you go out, you make sure that there aren't any jewels around or any extra money. You lock the drawers. You can never tell, you say to yourself, she might steal some of the stuff.

Great logic that, isn't it?

In Mascoutah, Ill. four people were killed in a wild automobile ride.

A 17-year-old high school senior was baby-sitting with her little cousin. A school mate and two boy friends dropped in and suggested a ride.

A couple of hours later the car in which they were riding side-pappy Jenkins, is a fellow who'll gladly give you his opinion, if he can find a sponsor.

That musical "Oklahoma!" has been a stage hit so long we were surprised to learn the state is actually older than it.

A 93-year-old Chicagoan is growing his third set of teeth. His happiness would be, no doubt, complete if only the price of steaks would now come down.

Try and Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

When Sam Levenson was a little boy, his father patted him on the head and said, "When you grow up, I want you should be a philanthropist." "Fine, papa," answered Sam. "I don't know what it is, but . . . are you sure I can make a living from it?" Sam's pop was amazed. "A living from it?" he echoed. "Every philanthropist I ever heard of has millions!"

The stock brokerage business hadn't been booming for months, and Wall Streeters were gloomy. One, however, admitted that his firm had gotten back into the black in a month. "We did it," he boasted, "by making a small profit on our employees' personal telephone calls."

"I've noticed," observed Fred Allen, "that certain movie stars wear their dark glasses even to church. Maybe they're afraid the Lord might ask them for autographs!"

"I'll say they wear well! NOBODY's ever come back for a second pair!"

Joint Board Stays Action On Budget

Brooksville—Pleasant Valley Joint Board met last night to discuss a tentative budget for the 1953-54 school year, then tabled the budget for study.

Meeting in Chestnuthill High School, joint board members heard a reading of the proposed budget's six major expense categories by Harry T. Young, assistant supervising principal of the joint schools.

Before the reading, Ross township's Clay Snyder introduced a motion asking that the board "table the budget until a later date."

Several members suggested that since the meeting had been called for the purpose of discussing the budget, the board go ahead and discuss it.

This they did. When the discussion had ended, Snyder repeated his motion.

Mrs. Corona Keiser, Hamilton, explained that she felt Hamilton's board needed more time to study the budget in connection with their expenses for tuition students.

Mrs. Keiser seconded the motion. The board voted to table the budget.

Then joint board president Tom Rogers asked the secretary to read a letter from Mrs. Gwen Veety, Hamilton requesting an executive session. Board members then voted to go into executive session from which members of the public and the press are excluded.

Luce Reported Ready To Start Paper In Rome

Rome, (AP)—Henry R. Luce, forgotten man in the welcome of the blonde wife as U. S. ambassador, went to work yesterday less than 24 hours after their arrival in Italy.

The publisher of Time and Life magazines rented a suite of offices on the Corso d' Italia-Rome's Wall Street.

This set off speculation that he plans to try out an Italian-language news and picture weekly or to start an English-language newspaper aimed at Europe-wide circulation.

The Rome offices of Time and Life said there was no confirmation. It was pointed out that Luce in any case intends to spend half of each year here.

Associates said "he wants to stay in the background."

The publisher's wife, Clare Boothe Luce, started work preliminary to her task as the first woman ambassador to a Latin land that has had full woman's suffrage for only six years.

She visited the U. S. Embassy on the Via Veneto, shook hands with her staff, had buffet supper last night with a dozen top officials of the embassy and crowded in more lessons in Italian.

She has avoided all official appearances and will continue to do so until she has presented her credentials to President Luigi Einaudi. That is scheduled for next Tuesday.

College Girl Signs 32 To Blood Donor Pledges

Miss Janet Sheilhamer, a senior student at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, decided yesterday to do her part to make the forthcoming visit of the Red Cross bloodmobile a success.

She circulated among her girl friends on the campus and 32 of them responded by signing pledge cards to appear at the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church next Wednesday and donate a pint of blood.

Not to be outdone, the young men at the college who are members of Alpha Phi Omega are signing up prospective blood donors among the male students.

The active support of college students is encouraging to the Monroe County Ministerium, which is conducting the blood drive this month. The April quota was set at 300 pints—twice the usual monthly quota—inasmuch as the bloodmobile did not pay a visit to the county last month.

Rev. Harold C. Eaton, who is April chairman of the blood drive, announced that in addition to those previously signed, Rev. William F. Wunder obtained pledges to give blood from 12 men at a banquet in East Stroudsburg last night.

Mrs. Corona Keiser, Hamilton, explained that she felt Hamilton's board needed more time to study the budget in connection with their expenses for tuition students.

Mrs. Keiser seconded the motion. The board voted to table the budget.

Police Charge Plant Worker With Larceny

A factory worker was charged by police yesterday with stealing equipment and parts from the Art Metal Co., East Stroudsburg.

He was Hargus Richardson, 23, Stroudsburg RD2, who had been employed as a paint sprayer operator at the Harris St. plant.

Officer Travis Seese of the East Stroudsburg police force said thefts had been occurring at the plant for a long period.

Plant employees Wednesday night saw Hargus take some items, Officer Seese said. Police were notified in the morning. Richardson was questioned.

Recovered from his residence, Officer Seese said, were a paint spray gun, used to paint lighters, a half gallon of enamel, several parts of another spray gun, 11 cigarette lighters, and miscellaneous parts for assembling other lighters.

Richardson was placed in the county jail about 5:20 p. m., on a charge of larceny.

Explorers often have reported land in Arctic seas which could not be found later and scientists now believe these "lands" are the huge ice islands which drift with the Arctic currents.

Washington (AP)—The House voted yesterday to kill nearly all federal rent controls on July 31. The bill now goes to the Senate, where its fate is uncertain.

The bill, a last-minute compromise between the Eisenhower administration and House Republican leaders, was approved by a standing vote of 187 to 66.

Protected by rent ceilings under the law are some five million housing units in 32 states.

All rent controls will die at midnight on Thursday unless an extension is passed by Congress and signed by the President before then.

The Senate, however, is locked in debate over offshore lands legislation and just when it will get around to rent controls is very uncertain.

Helicopter To Film Shots Of Pocono Vacation Centers

By James B. Gaffney

Looking forward to a hustling vacation season, business houses and resorts in the Poconos are sprucing-up, and one enterprise has come up with an idea that has a new twist.

John Valence, of Valence Photography Studios, Canadensis, plans to bring a helicopter to the Poconos this year to hover over the region saturating in film the activities of resorts.

Valence made known his plan at the fourth annual Pocono Mountain Hotel Show at Pocono Manor where he exhibited colorized shots of scenes in this region. "The Manor" alerted all its facilities for the two-day conclave where purveyors, 67 in all, exhibited in clever displays the products essential to operation in this resort section.

Businesses of the Poconos played a major role in the exhibit, at least 16 erecting stands and outlining their purpose to visitors.

To single out particular displays as outstanding would be doing an injustice, since all were talented in their arrangements and told stories in themselves.

Area businesses occupying the main lounge were: Craftmen Printers, of Pocono Lake; Pocono Supply Co., R. C. Cramer Lumber Co., with offices in East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg; Security Trust Co. The latter incorporated a Patterson-Kelley made twin shell dry blender, filled it with beans and asked viewers to guess the number.

In the lower lounge display area exhibits by East Stroudsburg Beverage Co., Monroe Distributing Co., and Twin-County Distributors added the local color to beverage arrangements.

Manor Hall, which contained a major portion of the displays, featured exhibits by A. B. Wyckoff Department Store, Stroudsburg Glass Co., Pocono Sport Shop and Mountain Cleaners.

Represented in the recreation hall were displays of Pennsylvania Power and Light Co., Pocono Gas Co., Lehigh Valley Frozen Foods, and the Fuelgas Corp.

Valence's display was in the Manor pantry.

Several representatives living in the Poconos also join the local color by supervising stands erected by their parent companies who maintain offices in other sections of the country.

Also in the main lounge were three exhibits unrelated to the overall retail world but essentially important to the thousands who soon will converge on this section.

One of these stands in charge of Mrs. Bruce Fleming, of Stroud-burg, pointed out dangers of tuberculosis. It was placed by the County's Tuberculosis and Health Society. Blue Cross sponsored an exhibit in charge of Thomas Boyle and the Automobile Association distributed information concerning their work.

Charles Cather, manager of the Stroudsburg Montgomery Ward Store, marked his first year as head of the local store Monday and is conducting the Semi-annual Ward-Week sale.

Cather, who lives at 752 Milford Rd., East Stroudsburg with his wife and son, came from Newport News, Va. He has been with Montgomery-Ward six years.

T-B Society Opposes Two Senate Bills

"Emphatic objection to Senate Bills 329 and 341 providing for abolishing the State Department of Health and placing authority for public health services in a proposed new Department of Health and Welfare through joining the Health, Welfare and Public Assistance Departments" was voiced yesterday by Carl E. Secor, president, on behalf of the Monroe County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

"Experience in states comparable to Pennsylvania proves that health service can most effectively be rendered through a separate department under the management of a trained public health official," continued Secor.

"The House of Representatives instead of passing these bills should give its full support to improving the public health services along the lines now being carried out by the Health Department."

"The recommendation for abolishing the Department of Health and forming a super-department came out of an admittedly hurried and super-department that a $20,000 a year administration would have the entire health and welfare picture at his fingertips" is wishful thinking.

"The advisability of continuing the Department of Health free of organizational ties with other departments in the handling of related services of the various departments has been and is sound procedure."

Mr. Secor said his organization "joins wholeheartedly with the State and County Medical Societies, the Pennsylvania Health Council, the League of Women Voters, the Pennsylvania Economy League and other organizations in urging that this proposal be rejected by the House."

Rail Strike Settlement Announced

Philadelphia (AP) — Settlement was announced yesterday in the month-long strike of the Lehigh and New England Railroad's operating employees.

Announcement of the settlement came from Robert V. White, president of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Co., which owns the railroad. White said workers were expected to be back on their jobs immediately.

White said the strike "caused a severe decline in coal sales due to the railroad's inability to make shipments" and caused the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company's board of managers to postpone consideration of a dividend at a meeting earlier yesterday in Philadelphia.

White said it was hoped most of the lost business can be made up during the coming summer months but added the board wanted to study the full effects of the strike before acting on a quarterly dividend.

Soroptimists Hear Of U.N. Achievement

The Soroptimists Club last night heard Miss Lillian Stark of the Stroudsburg High School faculty discuss "The Achievements of the United Nations" at the dinner meeting held at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

She stressed the achievements primarily in the fields of technical assistance, world health, agriculture, and education through the organizations within the United Nations. Miss Stark was one of several hundred educators who in February visited the United Nations for workshop sessions.

They were given delegates quarters and met in committee rooms with members of the secretariat and other UN officials. Panel discussions, dinners with delegates from various countries seated at the small tables, and other informal means of really getting to know the personnel.

From the discussions, she learned of the advancements made possible in undeveloped countries, where teams of experts could instruct natives in technical knowledge for building hydro-electric dams, irrigation, the use of machinery to increase the productivity within the countries.

In the field of world health, she reported on the progress of the control of tuberculosis, of cholera, malaria, yaws, trichoma and other diseases which have exacted appalling tolls in death and loss of efficiency. However, lowering the death rate of infants and increasing the life span of adults, leads to immense population growth, she pointed out, and the agricultural organization must devise ways of increasing the food supplies in pace with the population through improved products and methods of farming.

She also discussed the International Children's Emergency Committee and the work of education of illiterate, through UNESCO.

Many of the things which the United Nations were being criticized for not doing, she said, were things which did not come under their province at all. For instance, the racial policy in South Africa was an internal matter and not one in which the United Nations could interfere. Control of atomic energy depended on agreement of the big five powers, she pointed out, and Russia and other powers could not agree on methods of internal inspection.

Her talk was followed by a discussion period. Mrs. Russell Hamblin introduced the speaker. Mrs. Marguerite Clarkson presided at the business meeting of the club.

Book Review Given At Meeting Of Mission Society

Brodheadville—The Lutheran Women's Missionary Society of the Brodheadville Union Church held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Miller on Tuesday. The meeting opened with a devotional period in charge of Mrs. Ruth Serfass, who read a portion of Scripture and a prayer.

Mrs. William Kresge gave the book report of "Leper Angel." The report for next month will be given by Miss Margaret Ingram. Miss Ella Mills was in charge of the Lutheran Women Work Magazine Quiz.

Mrs. David Weber, program secretary, chose for the evening lesson, "Fellowship With the Deaf." The meeting was closed with Mrs. Dawn Bergstresser giving the Lord's Prayer in the sign language and the society repeating in unison the missionary benediction.

A social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served to the members and visitors present: Mrs. Lloyd Altomero, Mrs. Charles Brong, Mrs. Mary Christman, Mrs. Ralph Christman, Mrs. Nevin Dorshimer, Mrs. William Kresge, Miss Ella Mills, Mrs. Alice Mills, Miss Sallie Serfass, Mrs. Peter Serfass, Mrs. Frank Varney, Mrs. Fred Thomas, Mrs. Anita Dainty, Miss Margaret Ingram, Mrs. John Bergstresser, Mrs. David Weber, Mrs. Eva Jackson, Mrs. Gladys Serfass, Mrs. Saurwine and hostess, Mrs. Dorothy Miller, Mrs. Joseph Culby and Kathy Ann Miller were visitors.

Time to realize that the PTA programs which draw the biggest crowds are the ones with the most people taking part. They had 200 out for the Amateur Hour at Polk. But they wouldn't get that many out for the State Superintendent of Schools.

Time to decide how natural it was for the Girl Scouts of Marshall's Creek to think of having a supper to raise funds with the example of their elders before them. Even going to have two servings, just like the fire company auxiliary.

Time to try to figure out how many mothers were involved in costumes to outfit 80 children for their dance recital tonight, and how many pounds, on an average, a mother could be expected to lose through her daughter's dancing lessons.

Why, there was even time to slip in for a bit of the Soroptimists meeting and get caught up on the doings of the UN, and on the reactions of the members.

And time and to spare to wonder wistfully just how everything was coming along in the auditoriums of the towns.

30 Seniors Interviewed By Counselor

Thirty Stroudsburg High School seniors were interviewed at the school this week by Ben Overholt, employment counselor for the East Stroudsburg office, Pennsylvania State Employment Service.

Overholt concluded his work yesterday and set the wheels in motion for letters to industries which will point out particular qualifications of certain high school students as they embark on their life's work after June.

An earlier counseling service to 32 East Stroudsburg seniors will result in the same conclusion, according to Carl Denz, acting manager of the East Stroudsburg PSES office.

The program to open the door to the right job for seniors began late last year when specially qualified aptitude examiners visited the two high schools. Their students were selected from members of the graduating class who have not already decided on further education or a course of advancement in their particular field.

The general aptitude test battery covering 20 fields of endeavor and 2,000 specific jobs, was rated by the examiners, and records will accompany those received by Overholt in his counseling.

Area manufacturers soon will receive data announcing special qualifications of the senior students and may use the information as the basis for future employment, Denz said.

Although the tests and counseling service has been limited to Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg High Schools this year, Denz predicted that other county schools may be included in the future.

BEN OVERHOLT, left, employment counselor for the East Stroudsburg office, Pennsylvania State Employment Service, questions James Paul, Stroudsburg High School senior on the type work he prefers after graduation in June. The service, made available by the PSES to both Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg senior students, concluded yesterday. (Daily Record Photo)

Art Students To Visit Two N.Y. Museums

Visits to the Metropolitan Museum of Art and Museum of Modern Art, New York City, will be made today by 27 art students at Stroudsburg High School.

Purpose of the trip will be to study the history of art, sculpture, clothes and fashion designing, and other elements in the art field.

Charles Goodwin, art teacher, will conduct the trip, one of the largest field trips attempted for such a distance by art groups. Robert Hawk, teacher in industrial arts, will also be along on the trip.

At the modern museum students will be shown not only modern art, but modern design and architecture, and the integration of fine art with industrial arts.

The group will leave about 8 a.m. and return about 7 p.m. by chartered bus.

Mrs. John Andrade; April 29, Rodgers C. Shook and Marguerita R. Yelde.

Roland Wassermann was a guest of the William Clugstons last weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Starnier enjoyed a trip to the Air Force Base at Sampson, over the weekend. They visited with their son Edwin and Fred Werkheiser.

East Stroudsburg, Stroudsburg In League Baseball Action

Cavaliers At Home With Hellertown

East Stroudsburg High will open the 1953 Lehigh-Northampton League baseball season today, when the Cavaliers entertain a reportedly good Hellertown High club at East Stroudsburg Playground. The game is scheduled to get underway at 3:45 p.m.

The Cavaliers will attempt to continue the habit picked up against pre-season competition, East Stroudsburg defeated Pocono, 7-0, in a practice game, and then outlasted Port Jervis, 13-10, in a slugging-bee.

Coach Jack Kist wasn't certain of his starting pitching assignment last night, but the East Stroudsburg hurler will probably be chosen from a group featuring Bill Sommers, Harry Caulfield and Joe Antonucci.

Talent

Hellertown recently took the measure of Palisades High, 2-1, in a bitterly contested game.

Eastburg returns to Lehigh-Northampton League action next Tuesday, when the Cavaliers clash with Parkland, at Parkland. East Stroudsburg enjoys an open date next Friday.

Shantz Nips Senators, 6-4

Washington, AP—The Philadelphia Athletics overcame a 4-1 deficit to turn back the Washington Senators yesterday and give Bobby Shantz his first victory of the year. Home runs by Gus Zernial and Eddie Joost helped the A's in their uphill fight to win, 6-4.

Shantz, the American League's most valuable player last year, lost his first two starts to the New York Yankees and seemed on the way to his third straight defeat before he settled down after yielding four runs in the first four innings.

Big Blows

Zernial's homer in the fifth and Joost's in the sixth sliced the A's deficit to 4-2. They produced two runs in the seventh when Elmer Valo walked and Zernial, Pete Suder and Joe Astroth singled.

Philadelphia braced a 5-4 lead in the eighth after Dave Philley reached first when Mickey Vernon bobbled his grounder. A sacrifice, a single and fly to the outfield brought him around.

The A's added a clincher run in the ninth on a walk and a triple by Philley.

Washington got to Shantz for two runs in the second as Pete Runnels walked, Wayne Terwilliger tripled and Walt Masterson doubled. They added a run in the third when Clyde Volmer doubled across Jackie Jensen. Mickey Grasso's fourth inning homer boosted the Senators into a 4-1 lead.

Pirates Triumph Over Giants

Pittsburgh, AP—Outfielder Frank Thomas belted a bases loaded third inning home run—the first in his major league career—to power the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 6-5 victory yesterday over the New York Giants.

Second baseman Danny O'Connell drove in what proved the winning run with a booming triple to the centerfield gate in the fifth. The drive scored Ralph Kiner who had singled after two outs.

Winner

Southpaw Howie Pollet got credit for the victory but needed help from Johnny Hoti. Pollet gave up all of the Giants runs and nine hits. Dave Koslo, the first of four Giant hurlers, was charged with the loss.

Doubles by Kiner and catcher Eddie Fitz Gerald provided the Pirates' first run in the second. Kiner also collected a single and a walk and scored three runs.

Seven Teams Entered In Softball Loop

Seven teams are definitely entered in the Monroe County Softball League, it was learned last night at a meeting of the circuit at the Monroe County YMCA. Approximately 15 men were in attendance at the meeting.

The circuit is anxious to obtain an eighth starter before opening day, Monday, May 4. The seven definite starters are IAM, Jack's Market, Eagles, Tucker's Chevrolet, Al Besecker's Diner, Union Printers and Shaffer's Inn.

Rosters

It was also decided to feature rosters of 15 men a team this season. All rosters must be completed by Friday, May 15. Additional players may be used, in the case of absent regular members, providing they are not members of another club's roster.

The Monroe County Softball League will enter a team in the class "B" Keystone Amateur Softball Association tournament, to be held sometime in August. The Monroe County team must be selected by Tuesday, July 28.

Next week's league meeting is slated for the YMCA on Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m.

Mountaineers Tangle With Northampton

Stroudsburg High comes face to face with its most important baseball game of the youthful Lehigh Valley League season today, when the Mountaineers battle a strong Northampton contingent, on the latter's home field. The game is scheduled to get underway at 4 p.m.

The Mountaineers are undefeated against league competition, having won over Catawqua, 7-1, in Stroudsburg's only circuit outing to date. The charge of Coach Jerry Stulgaitis dropped a 3-0 verdict to Pen Argyl on Tuesday, in a non-league affair.

Stulgaitis announced last night that Bill "Bump" Metzger, winner over Catawqua, would do the pitching for the Mountaineers today against the highly regarded Northampton club.

Same Crew

The remainder of the Stroudsburg lineup will be intact. This means that Co-Captain Layton DeHaven will do the catching, while Co-Captain Floyd "Willie" Williams handles first base; Paul "Doc" Lim, second base; Karl Weingartner, shortstop; Dick "Pickles" Hintze, third base; Jim "Red" Makosky, left field; Al Adelmann, center field, and Benny Miller, right field.

Ray Hogrelus and Dick Shuster will be the relief pitchers if needed. The Mountaineers worked out on recently reconditioned Gordon Giffels field for the first time yesterday.

Phillies Deal Third Straight Loss To Bums Behind Roberts

Philadelphia, AP—The Philadelphia Phillies, paced by Robin Roberts, last night handed the Brooklyn Dodgers their third straight setback, 6-1, as the Phils took over undisputed first place in the National League. Stan Lopata was the big gun in the Phils' attack with three runs batted in on a single and his first homer of the year.

The Phils, who had shared the top rung with the idle St. Louis Cardinals, have now won four straight games.

Gran Hammer also homered for the victors, hitting his second of the year in the fourth inning. Lopata smacked his with the bases empty in the fifth.

The lone Brooklyn run came in the first inning on "Pee Wee"

Reese's homer. After that only one Brooklyn runner got as far as third base. The exception was Carl Furillo, who singled in the seventh and advanced on Gil Hodges' single and a forceout.

The first Philadelphia run was picked up in the second on three hits, one of them Lopata's payoff single with two on base.

After Hammer hit his homer, Lopata walked and went to third on a fielder's choice as Roberts was safe on an attempted sacrifice. Richie Ashburn doubled home both Lopata and Roberts. The final Philadelphia run was scored in the eighth on Hammer's double, a sacrifice, fly ball and Roberts' double to center.

Scranton Downs ESSTC In Track Meet

Nuss Captures Two Events For Warriors

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College went down to its second straight track defeat yesterday and the University of Scranton stretched its winning habit to three straight, without a defeat, by a 7 1/2 to 54 1/2 margin, on the Normal Hill oval.

Scranton won eight of the 11 events on the agenda, although the Warriors exhibited a marked improvement over their initial outing against West Chester.

Art Nuss, ESSTC's outstanding dash man, won both the 100 and 220 in convincing fashion. ESSTC made its big outburst of points in the discus event, when Bill Hibbs, Bob "Dad" Rhinel and Dick Northrup finished one, two, three in the event.

Other ESSTC first places were provided by Don Lewis, broad jump; Roger Neilson, high jump, and Lee Hill, pole vault.

ESSTC is entering a team in the Pennsylvania State Teachers College Mile Relay Championship at the Penn Relays today. Coach Howard DeNike announced last night that he was uncertain of his starting team.

John Rhen, his number one entry, suffered a pulled muscle yesterday and will be out of action for several days. The veteran track coach plans to pick a starting team of four from Bob Brown, Don Lewis, Jim Matthews, Ted Murray and Don Wizer. DeNike and Russ Gilbert, manager, will depart with the squad at noon.

Veteran Material To Form Newfoundland Diamond Squad

Newfoundland—The Newfoundland Bears, local entrants in the Pocono Mountains Baseball Association, will field a veteran team in the 1953 pennant race, which goes under way Sunday, May 8. Manager Henry "Hank" Botjer has announced.

Botjer has inked practically all the players of the 1952 squad, which won the annual post-season playoff, plus a number of promising young players who have performed in high school circles and in the Wayne County League.

Also signed is Walter "Zeke" Voeste, right-handed pitcher, who was one of the Bears' brightest stars a few years ago.

Goal

Back to try for his sixth consecutive PMA batting crown will be Dick Dunning, veteran third baseman and part-time pitcher. Other holdovers are Hubert "Buck" Hutchins, who alternates as a pitcher and catcher, Bill Herring, left-handed hurler; Donald "Deb" Barnes and Ray VanBenscoten, infielders, and outfielders Art Botjer, Art Smith and Jack Dunning.

Added to the roster are Al Caruth, former Bear who performed in the Wayne County loop as an outfielder the past few years; Paul Smith, a WCL catcher; Russell Moissoner, outfielder; Carl Stone, utility infielder, and a high school battery, Tom Klepado and Henry Olson.

Weather permitting, the Bears will play a practice game on the local field Sunday afternoon. Local players not on the Bears' roster will provide the opposition.

Earl F. Groner To Speak At Report Session

The fourth report meeting of the YMCA "Finish the Job" Building Fund Campaign will be held at the Penn-Stroud tonight at 6:15.

Holt Wyckoff, general chairman; Ted Hoffman, leader of Section A, and Jack Pine, leader of Section B, are in charge of the program.

Auditors will receive report envelopes beginning at 5:30.

The invocation will be given by Rev. Robert Bradburn, pastor of the Shawnee Presbyterian church. Singing will be led by Harry Albert, accompanied by Albert E. DeFenzis. Earl Groner Jr. will play a trombone solo, while his father, Earl F. Groner, will be the "pep" speaker.

Divisions and teams are vying with each other for position in league standings. It is expected more "quota busting" teams will be named.

Individual awards will be presented by the hostesses to 15 "quota busters" and two more first citizens (double quota). In addition to those previously announced, "quota buster" emblems will be presented to Mrs. John Wilson, Mrs. Clifford Heller, Warren McNeil and Carl Decker.

All workers are urged to be present at the meeting and to work their prospect cards today because beginning tonight the field will be open, except for some cards not yet seen by the Special Gifts Committee.

Special Gifts Committee will meet with the Teams Organization tonight. Co-Chairman C. R. Gilliam and Vice Chairmen J. Albert Groner and Jesse Flory will ask for reports from committee members.
